Digital Product Designer (UX/UI) - Full Time

Who we are

We're Notion, a Denver-based team dedicated to making home awareness a reality for renters and homeowners. We're doing this with the help of an intuitive mobile app and an all-in-one sensor that can be placed anywhere to help you know more about what's happening in your home. Want to know more? Check out our site: getnotion.com

About you

We're looking for an experienced Product Designer to help us bring Notion to the world. Your focus would be driving our mobile app (iOS & Android) forward toward our upcoming launch and beyond. Since we're a startup, you'll have deep access to our entire team, wear a lot of hats and handle a good load of responsibility. If that sounds like a fun adventure to you, read on.

This is a full-time, in-office role. We're a fun bunch with a relaxed office in downtown Denver, plenty of ping pong matches and a beer-stocked fridge.

Requirements:

- You rely on a mix of evidence and intuition to design digital products
- You pursue the latest mobile best practices
- When faced with a user experience problem, your reaction is to gain understanding, build an interactive prototype and test with users
- You've designed, scheduled, screened and ran in-home user tests in the past
- Creating empathy across departments is natural for you
- You're comfortable taking a new feature from user insight to a fully-scoped design hand off
- You've got a great track record, stories, and work that you can share to help us understand your product design process

To apply

Please send your resume, as well as links to products you've built, to hello@getnotion.com with "Product Design @ Notion" in the subject line.
